Terms and Conditions of Sale at the Medieval Market 2022

Vendors and products

The medieval spirit must be taken into consideration in products and packing as well as the decoration of the stall and the vendor's clothing. We appreciate uniformed product entities and products made from natural materials. For example, plastic is not suitable for the event's spirit and you may not pack the products in plastic.

The jury comments on the products and determines if they are approved or rejected. Only approved products may be sold at the Market.

If a vendor or a person assisting in the stall does not have a medieval costume, the vendor is obliged to rent a costume from the event organiser (50€ / 5 days).

Application for a selling place

The application form must be filled in with care. The application and product samples or good-quality colour photos of the products must be sent by mail to the jury by Tuesday 5 April 2022. The vendor is required to send the application and samples well in advance and choose delivery to the doorstep, as the organiser does not collect parcels from the post office or any other pick-up point. We do not return samples by mail at our own expense.

An application for a selling place approved by the organiser is a contract binding on both parties, and it determines both the size and the rent of the selling place.

Prices:

Stall provided by the event organiser, width 1.6m and depth 2m 70€/day 240€ / all four days	Space for vendor's own stall, width 2m 120€/day 400€ / all four days
Fast food place (space 2m x 2m, organiser's or vendor's own stall) 140€ /day 500€ / all four days	Additional space: 50€ / m in width / day Electricity (only for food vendors) 20€/day Notice that no VAT will be added to prices!

Terms of payment

The selected vendors will get an invoice for the selling place fee according to the information they have given in the application form. The payment's due date is 16 May 2022. The vendor should pay the selling place fee in one instalment before the due date and in any case before the event.

If the vendor uses extra space during the Market without agreement with the organiser, the cost of the extra space will be charged in double afterwards. All space, which is used in width outside the width of agreed selling place, is considered as extra space.

Cancellation

The vendor is obligated to inform the event organiser of a cancellation no later than 1st June 2022. In such a case the vendor is entitled to get their payment back with no extra expenses. If the vendor cancels later than 1st June 2022, the vendor can only receive the payment back in case of illness (a medical certificate is required).

If the selling place is not taken in custody by the accepted vendor, the vendor is yet fully responsible for all the payments. The vendor may not assign their selling place to another vendor, nor sell any products that are not approved by the jury.

Market stall or tent

The organiser determines the location of selling places by taking into account the product range, the area's appropriate use and vendors' wishes. The organiser has the right to decide whether the appearance and decoration of a stall are suitable for the Medieval Market.

The vendor may use their own market stall, booth or tent only if the organiser has approved this in advance. Tents intended solely for consumer use should not be used as they are not durable enough to be used at events. The purpose of the tent can be found in its operating instructions. For safety, the tents must have weights, e.g. 30–50 kg's water cans attached to the tent structure. If the vendor does not have with him some weights for the tent, the organiser cannot give permission to set up the tent (fire inspector's requirement).

Insurance and guarding

The event organiser has a third party insurance which covers all damages caused to a third party by the organiser's equipment. The vendors are responsible for the damages they have caused to their own equipment, other vendors, the public, the organiser, or the event area. The vendors are responsible for their own insurances.

The event organiser arranges guarding the market area every night during the event. Please note that only the constructional elements are supervised. Night guards are not responsible for the property left in the stalls.

It is strictly forbidden to leave products in stalls or tents overnight. The organiser will monitor compliance with particular care in relation to food and edged weapons and will take appropriate action if needed. During market hours, edged weapons on display without a sheath must be positioned so that the customer cannot touch them independently.

We aim to provide an overnight storage space for vendors in the market area. Approved vendors will receive more detailed information in directions sent before the Market.

Electricity

Electricity is only available for the vendors selling food or beverages if requested. The need for electricity has to be mentioned in the application form. We only deliver electricity according to the application in advance, and the costs for the electricity will be invoiced with the place payment. It is requested that the vendors in need for electricity take their own outdoor extension cords for the distribution of electricity.

Licences

The event organiser will provide the required licences from the police, the department of emergency services and health officers for the event.

Selling food and beverages

The Association Turun Suurtorin keskiaika ry provides a list of food vendors at the Medieval Market to the food authorities. Any food vendor in the Medieval Market, including a private individual, must be subject to food control. In practice, this means that a food operator, who prepares or sells food on the Market, must have made a declaration about moving food premises to any municipality in Finland.

Food vendors must ensure that they have necessary licences for their activities. They must have sufficient knowledge of the food they sell, and they must ensure that they have a written own-check plan, which complying with the vendor prevents hazards in food hygiene and the reduction of the hygienic quality of food. The own-check plan must be available in the selling space at the Market.

Food vendors must follow the guidelines for outdoor sales of food in the City of Turku. The guidelines include the following specification:

Vendible food must be kept on a selling table that is high enough and easily cleaned. Outside of sale hours, vendible food, selling equipment and accessories must be stored in appropriate places, where there is sufficient storage space at the proper temperature for food and where furniture cleaning and maintenance can be carried out properly and the furniture can be protected from external influences.

Food vendors must have their name and contact details visible in their selling space. Pre-packaged foods must be labelled in accordance with the Food Act and related statutes. Labels must be in Finnish and Swedish. Detailed instructions can be found on the Finnish Food Authority's website: www.ruokavirasto.fi/en/companies/food-sector/production/food-information/labelling/labelling.

Anyone selling unpacked products must have adequate and correct information concerning products, including their composition, storage and producer. The country or region of origin must be clearly indicated if failing to do so could be misleading. Vendors selling unpacked food, such as food portions, should have a splash guard or other protection, which ensures satisfactory distance for hygiene between the customers and the prepared food products.

Perishable food items may be sold in the cold device with a temperature of up to 6°C. Temperatures should be measured with a separate thermometer and the results recorded. Any food vendor, who handles unpacked, perishable food, should have a heated water container with a faucet for washing hands. Vendors should take into account that the health inspector may cancel the sale, until a proper hand washing post is operational.

If these guidelines are not followed, the inspection may, if necessary, stop the sale of food. For more information on outdoor food sales in the city of Turku, please contact Health Inspector Sanna Stark: tel. +358 44 907 3696 (from 8:30 to 9:30 local time) or e-mail sanna.stark@turku.fi.

No food should be left overnight in the stall and no food left overnight can no longer be used or sold during the Market. The organiser of the event can inform health officers if vendors selling food or beverages have left their products in the stalls.

The organiser requires the use of natural alternatives in all food serving instead of plastic dishes. The dishes and the glasses must have a medieval look; no present-day see-through plastic mugs, napkins or paper plates are allowed.

Waste management

The vendors have to take care of the tidiness of their selling place. All waste must be carried to a large waste container that is in the market area. The vendors are not allowed to use little wooden dustbins placed around the market area.

Fire safety

Vendors using fire should follow the general laws and regulations and general instructions on fire safety. Food vendors must notify the gas cylinders and other flammable materials in advance. A vendor using fire or gas must keep a powder extinguisher (min. 6 kg) and a fire blanket in their stall at all times. Fire extinguishers used at public events should be examined once a year. Vendors using electricity must provide their stalls with a fire blanket.

Logistics

Vendors are allowed to bring their goods with a car, but the cars must be out of the area half an hour before the event starts (i.e. by 11:30). It is strictly forbidden to drive a car in the market area during opening hours. If necessary, the security officers will prevent cars from coming to the area.

General regulations

The organiser reserves the right to changes. The vendors must follow the laws, rules and orders that have been passed on entrepreneurship and taxation in Finland. The Terms and Conditions in Finnish are kept as a basis when dealing with possible interpretations. Disagreements in the interpretation of these Terms and Conditions are resolved at the Turku District Court under Finnish law. By signing the application for a selling place at the Medieval Market a vendor commits to comply with all Terms and Conditions of Sale and the instructions provided by the organiser to supplement these Terms and Conditions.
